REACHING FOR WORLD TRADE

Every Nation Wide Awake to the Possibilities That Have Opened, Following the Great War.

A more cosmopolitan document than the world's map of trade channels which is now being gathered from all sources by the United States Department of Commerce and published for the information of American business interests. At present in Spain wishes to sell agricultural machinery and mechanical tools; a company in Egypt wishes to handle American cardboards and all kinds of paper; a firm in India is eager to come in contact with exporters of general merchandise; agricultural machinery in South Africa are interested in caterpillar tractors; a man in Switzerland would like to become an agent for yarn and fabrics; another in Belgium wishes to deal in food products; an engineer in Letland would like to represent exporters of agricultural tools and automobiles, but perceives the wisdom of having more than one string to his bow, for he wants also an agency for the sale of food. An interesting medley of commercial ambitions, with items that have already counted up to more than 1,500, the lists reveal how, all over the world, individuals and companies are hoping for opportunity to share in international trade.

Crown Dating From 1000 A. D.
The rumor, current in the European press some months ago, when the Bela Kun administration ruled in Hungary, that the Hungarian crown was to be sold, seems to have disappeared, and the later government apparently means to keep it. It was an odd circumstance, says a writer commenting on that rumor and its disappearance, that, with so much talk of discarded insignia of royalty, the one crown actually mentioned as being for sale should have been the most ancient one, with a single exception, in Europe. For whereas the German crown, for example, is comparatively modern, and was made no longer ago than 1871 for the former Kaiser's grandfather, this crown of Hungary traces back, at least in legend, to the year 1000, and the sum of 100,000 Swiss marks, about $19,000, which, last summer, was circumstantially reported as the price for which it was to be sold, does not seem particularly exorbitant.

Depressing "Flying Dream."
In the flying dream, you suddenly leap off your feet and undergo the experience of rising to great heights and skimming over innumerable objects. If the dream only embraces this and nothing more, it may be taken to augur some kind of a surprise, usually of a more or less pleasant nature; but if, as so often happens, one imagines one flies to escape some peculiar evil presence, then the dream may be regarded as a warning against some sinister person or plot. Flying dreams usually occur to people with marked psychic tendencies.

Painter's Fame Came Slowly.
August Renoir, seventy-eight years old, the famous French impressionist, died recently at Cagnes, France, on the day that his picture of the Pont Neuf fetched 100,000 francs at an art sale. In his youth he often paid for his dinner with a picture. Renoir was one of the first of the impressionists. He worked to the last, and died with his palette in his hands. "I feel I am just beginning to know my trade," he said when he was well over seventy.

Its Kind.
"I hear that Daisy's love for Jim was not the same when he put on civilian clothes and had no more the glamor of the soldier."

Great Value of Redwood.
Redwood lumber is largely used on the Pacific coast, as it has great natural resistance to rot and fire. Heart redwood when placed in contact with the ground will remain in good condition for 25 years or more, whereas a great many other species rot out in a few years. The redwood heartwood is also able to repel the attacks of decay-producing fungi, because of the presence of tannin, oils and resins obnoxious to fungi.

Resourceful Bridegroom.
Just as a Portland (Me.) lawyer was about to begin a wedding ceremony the lights in his office went out. The bridegroom asked to be excused a few minutes, and ran down into the street, where he saw a lantern which was used to warn vehicles of a hole in the ground. He borrowed it long enough to become a benedict, and neither he nor his bride regarded the red light as an evil omen.

COUGHS AND COLDS MAKE YOU "ACHY," WEAK AND PALE HERE'S EASY WAY TO STOP IT

DON'T TAKE JUST A PILL OR DOSE OF SALTS—
CURE THE COUGH OR COLD—THEN FORTIFY SYSTEM AGAINST THE NEXT ONE.

PEOPLE WHO CATCH COLD EASILY ARE IN POOR SHAPE TO WARD OFF DISEASE

You Can Cure This One and Have No More All
Winter.

DO A GOOD JOB OF
IT AND DO IT NOW

People in perfect health get soaking wet, dress too thin, sit in drafts and catch colds and coughs. If you were run down recently and caught cold, feel irritable, pale, weak, achy and bad all over—can't eat, can't sleep and feel miserable—this is the quickest and best way to knock it completely out of your system and be back on your feet feeling "Fit-as-a-fiddle."

But remember—You can't kill a "Cold" or a "Cough" with birdshot. A little pill or dose of salts isn't enough. You want permanent relief from the cough and cold and the balance of the winter. You want to clear the chest, lungs, throat and head of the cold and cough and strengthen the lungs so the next cough or cold that comes along will have no more effect than the Germans at Chateau Thierry.

WHAT TO DO
Stop in at the drug store and get two bottles of Earle's Hypo-Cod. (We give a 30c box of Earle's 30c.) Laxative and Balm for the throat with every two bottles of Hypo-Cod. Take two or three of the 50s and a tablespoonful of Hypo-Cod—go to bed early and keep covered up and then—starting tomorrow—follow the directions. That is all.

It doesn't matter how chronic, persistent or deep-seated your trouble, by reading what users say in the articles on the right, you can see how quickly it does the work. For formula under Site reads: Earle's Hypo-Cod contains Wild Cherry Bark, Extractives from Pure Cod Liver Oil, Malt, Iron, extra select sherry wine and the compound syrup of Hypophosphites. There is no oily fishy taste. It is so pleasant, children cry for it. Experts assert it is the most effective, palatable and powerful nutritive, reconstructive tonic made. Each bottle bears name of nationally known Earle Chemical Co., which is a guarantee of the finest medicine.

WHAT IT DOES
That dull, headachy, irritable feeling disappears. Your head, throat and lungs clear up; watery noses and eyes feel good again; the hoarseness disappears; you sleep good, breathe easy and back comes the appetite and "pep." You don't mind the icy cold winds and chilly days any more. Your blood becomes thick and enriched; good rich red blood brings the roses to your cheeks; the lungs with new strength oxidize the blood better and ward off such coughs and colds easily. Your digestion is improved and takes care of the heavier winter foods—soups, meats, hot cakes, pumpkin pies and pastries.

The beauty about the Hypo-Cod and Earle's 30c is of relieving a cough and cold is that it not only stops the trouble you have now but it increases the disease resisting vitality, strengthens and fortifies the system against such ills the balance of the winter. Frail, weak, fast growing children can be built up to robust vigorous health by a bottle or two and folks of all ages should adopt this wise old tonic habit of our forefathers according to enthusiastic folks everywhere. Hypo-Cod cures the good, old-fashioned colds and cures the most powerful ingredients in more powerful form without the disagreeable, oily taste and in addition contains the elements needed because of our changed methods of living, working and eating. In Hypo-Cod we get a much more powerful and quick acting preparation with all of the old-fashioned objectionable features removed. Come down to the store tonight and get a couple bottles.

SICK IN BED— TOOK HYPO-COD NOW WELL AGAIN

Became Strong and Stomach
Trouble Disappeared

A WONDERFUL TONIC

"The torture I went through with lying there by my bed and trying to live on puffed rice and milk is beyond words," declared Mrs. John Forsyth, whose address is given below.

"I had a very bad cold last winter and it dragged along until one fine day I up and caught the 'flu' and for months after I lay in bed a physical wreck. My cough was awful and my poor stomach was so weak and bad I could not eat regular food. I didn't know what real sleep was and then, one day while I was lying there on my bed in the depths of despair I saw what folks were saying about Hypo-Cod in the newspapers. I was wild to try it. I told my daughter to buy a bottle at one drug store and I got someone else to phone down to another store for another and in all I took three bottles. Results have been simply grand. I only hope that this testimonial reaches others sick and in poor health for it surely will put them in a healthy, strong condition again.

Even if it reaches only one poor sufferer I will feel the effort is not all in vain. For if they see Earle's Hypo-Cod one good fair trial there must be some relief. I only hope that this testimonial reaches others sick and in poor health for it surely will put them in a healthy, strong condition again. Even if it reaches only one poor sufferer I will feel the effort is not all in vain. For if they see Earle's Hypo-Cod one good fair trial there must be some relief. I only hope that this testimonial reaches others sick and in poor health for it surely will put them in a healthy, strong condition again.

A couple bottles of Earle's Hypo-Cod will cure the most stubborn colds and coughs. I was wild to try it. I only hope that this testimonial reaches others sick and in poor health for it surely will put them in a healthy, strong condition again.

HAD ASTHMA SO BAD COULDN'T

Suffered 14 Years; Had To Sleep Sitting Up In A
Chair at Night.

TELLS HOW HYPO-
COD RELIEVED HIM

"I had Bronchial Asthma for 14 years and have had to sit up in a chair at night more than half the time. I would go to bed and about one or two in the morning I would get up and stay up the rest of the night, and then I couldn't do anything. I couldn't stand up hardly," declared Mr. James Chapman, whose address is given below.

"I heard a great deal about Hypo-Cod being good for this trouble and for the lungs, so I started taking it. I haven't had to sit up in my chair at night since and this is surely a great deal for Hypo-Cod—because I had it bad. I can now lay down in bed without even a pillow. Cold before taking Hypo-Cod I had to be propped way up in bed and even then had to get up and take to my

FOR BRONCHIAL CATARRH, ASTHMA

Difficult Breathing Or Fits of Coughing and Spitting.

At this time of year people with Bronchial Catarrh and Asthma trouble suffer most. Many cannot breathe well unless propped up with pillows in bed. The constant air coming from outside into a stuffy warm room, theatre or church, brings on violent fits of coughing and sneezing. People troubled this way are often forced to spit and hawk for hours to clear their throats, and nostrils of accumulated mucus.

Specialists assert these are not dangerous troubles, unless neglected too long, but they surely keep a person in a pale, weak, nervous, headachy condition. To easily relieve such a condition in even the most chronic cases, take Earle's Hypo-Cod regularly for a while. You accomplish what a gradual cure would require in a few days. It gives strength and fortifies the system and lungs against a recurrence of such troubles and coughs, colds and even more dangerous winter ailments. Read to authorities on the subject. Read what others say about it in the newspapers below and then come down to the drug store and join the thousands who have taken Hypo-Cod on the road to robust health and freedom from sickness this winter.

HE FELT ACHY, WEAK, HAD BAD COUGH, HYPO-COD STOPPED IT

Nothing Tasted Good—Was Weak and Dizzy In the Morning.

FEELS LIKE NEW MAN ONCE AGAIN

The hundreds of statements from people throughout the country praising Earle's Hypo-Cod must surely convince even the most skeptical. Stanley Crane, a lumber inspector with the West Side Lumber Co. (Address 1225 Mercer St., Dayton, Ohio) writes: "Thousands in Dayton prefer Hypo-Cod to all other tonics, same as in this city. At the Old Soldiers' Home scores of sickly heroes credit Hypo-Cod for renewed strength and freedom from sickness. At this season of the year the blood should be enriched and thicker so you can withstand the cold weather better. Your appetite should be heartened and digestion should take care of the heavier winter foods. The lungs must be stronger to avoid colds, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis and asthmatic conditions. We advise everyone to take a dose of Earle's Hypo-Cod before meals for a few days just to increase their disease resisting vitality and reserve force. A little bit of this stuff will take care of the cold habit of our forefathers and freedom from colds and watery phlegm. Come down to the store and get a couple bottles. We prepare large bottles of the genuine Earle's Hypo-Cod, anywhere on receipt of price, $1.25, plus 5c war tax.

"I endorse Hypo-Cod without reserve. I was suffering from after-effects of the grippe and had lost considerable weight. I coughed a good deal at night and seldom slept good. I felt worn out and would get dizzy and things would turn black. Everything I tasted was gone. Hypo-Cod stopped all these troubles mighty quickly, however

SLEEPS SOUND
AT NIGHT AGAIN

"My husband surely had a very serious cold and cough and he had grown so weak as time went on that I knew he must do something desperate," declared Mrs. Ben Nunnally, wife of the well known proprietor of Nunnally's Hotel, Youngstown, Ohio.

"His appetite began to disappear and nights he was so restless and had on account of the cough he didn't close his eyes and would roll and toss and complain of achy muscles and chest. We saw Hypo-Cod advertised by good luck and it was helping so many Youngstown people he bought a bottle and I'm glad to say this medicine really does what they say. It was just what he needed and he took two bottles," continued Mrs. Nunnally.

Earle's Hypo-Cod not only brings relief from cough and colds—it cures all the symptoms and wards off future trouble. Take a couple bottles and be free of such troubles all winter. Of course if you only want temporary relief come to the store and get something simpler but we recommend that everyone relieve such troubles in a permanent manner and avoid future trouble. See directions on package. The cure cost is less than the loss of one day's pay, not to mention sick bills.

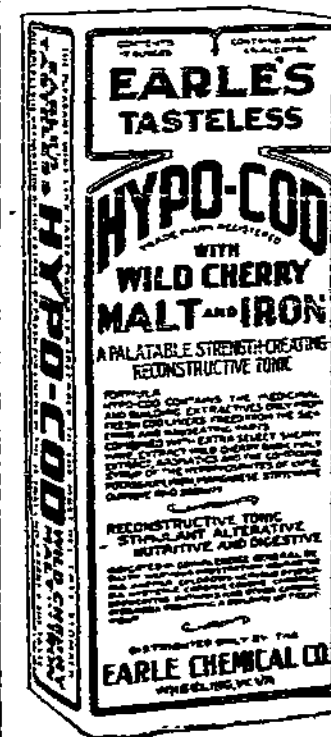

To purchasers of two bottles we give a regular 30c box of Earle's 30c, (coupons redeemed) and for colds and coughs the two bottles work beautifully together. See directions on package. What other users say regarding this superb preparation.

HE FELT ACHY, WEAK, HAD BAD COUGH, HYPO-COD STOPPED IT

The first thing it done was start my appetite. It stopped the tickling in my throat and in one week the old cough was completely gone. It built me right up from the very first dose and now I am well as ever.

I feel like a different person and don't need work like I used to. All the aching pains and dizzy spells left me and I am gaining weight so fast that I can't praise Hypo-Cod enough," continued Mr. Stanley Crane, a lumber inspector with the West Side Lumber Co. (Address 1225 Mercer St., Dayton, Ohio)

Woman suffrage needs four more states in order to become effective in the United States, and it is generally conceded that the North must furnish most of them. The South is evidently afraid of the colored line down there, for the colored women may be more aggressive about their votes than the men.

RATHER EMBARRASSING

From the little Central American republic of Salvador comes the request that the government at Washington officially define the Monroe Doctrine for the enlightenment of all the American states concerned. This request is likely to be found rather embarrassing by our State Department because it is difficult for even the great republic of North America, the author and guardian of the doctrine, to define it in exact terms covering the past, let alone the future. It is easy enough to state the doctrine as it was announced by President Monroe in 1823, for that announcement went no further than the assertion that further territorial expansion by European powers in the Western Hemisphere would be opposed as "dangerous to the peace and safety" of the United States. In other words, this country would take action primarily in its own interests and secondarily for the protection of all other American States.

This first principle is a simple enough, but its active assertion has led to a sort of general supervision of Spanish-America by the United States when trouble with European governments threatened, a supervision sometimes resented by the protected American republics; and this supervision has been pushed farther by some administrations at Washington than by others. Moreover, the Spanish-Americans have wanted the Diaz doctrine added to that of Monroe, the first named proposing that no American republic be allowed to expand at the expense of another's territory; but to this the United States has not consented, and the Roosevelt administration assisted in establishing the new and nominal republic of Panama at the territorial expense of Colombia. Spanish-American republics have been rendered uneasy by successive expansions and varying interpretations of the Monroe doctrine principle, but the effort to get an exact and lasting definition is not promising because no administration at Washington can expect to control the interpretations of its successors.

THE DAY OF AGE

It has often been said that this is the Age of Youth; there are many indications that it is also the Age of Old Men. Says the Detroit Free Press. We have Elihu Root celebrating his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary and being appointed a member of an important conference at about the same time. Edison investigating the uses and mysteries of electricity as interestedly as if he were thirty-three instead of seventy-three, and not working on an eight-hour schedule either; Senator Cummins at seventy writing his name across federal railroad law in America, and "Marse Henry" Watterson at four score writing a book of two octavo volumes which is a treasure chest of anecdote and reminiscence. There are a few more inspiring instances among the many men who have exceeded the Scriptural limit of three score and ten, give grounds for the assertion that the years of human usefulness have been increased as some scientists have declared by twenty years. It depends upon the man himself how he spends his time and what is the fruitage of his years. He can shorten his span by self-indulgence, lengthen and make it of greater importance, according to which he permits ascendancy, his own or his animal characteristics. The proposition to raise the draft from twenty-five to fifty-five when the war entered the war, heartened the war, and augmented their usefulness; they felt that they were "old" and laid on the laurels. They told the young men to "carry on" in another "war" and necessary. There was and is no foolish endeavor to conceal gray hairs or bald heads; the number of elderly men well groomed, bright of eye, though no longer minus wrinkles, testifies to the fact that age is no longer crabbied because of feeling itself "out of it." If there is work to be done "I can" is the answer.

MAKING A NEW SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

Changing cabinet members is quite an important event—even in Washington. These photos show the cabinet change when Secretary Houston became secretary of treasury and Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa, was made secretary of agriculture. Chief Clerk R. M. Reese is administering the oath of office to Secretary Meredith. Below is a

MORE RESERVATIONS.

Switzerland, one of the smallest republics in the world, has been admitted to the league of nations, but not until after her adoption of a reservation on Article X more sweeping in effect than any proposed in the American Senate. It is a development of significance in the United States. Like the recent Grey letter, says the Uniontown Herald, it indicates that some Americans at least are taking themselves and their pride and prestige entirely too seriously in this treaty discussion.

Switzerland enters the league refusing to accept any responsibility to "preserve as against external aggression the territorial and political independence of other members of the league," if that responsibility involves the use of an armed force. The general tenor of the reservation adopted by the Senate provided that the United States would take no action to preserve such integrity until the Congress has passed upon the question and given its sanction.

It will be seen that Switzerland refuses absolutely to use an armed force to preserve the territorial integrity of any country under the covenant of the league of nations, while the United States position is much more milder intone, specifying that Congress must first pass upon the question at issue before aggressive action is taken. It looks as if those who are opposing American reservations should get in step with events and if they wish to pass the treaty to at least allow the United States almost as much privilege as Switzerland has taken. And Switzerland was evidently not afraid of "busting" the heart of the world.

Senator Lodge has announced that the treaty of peace and the covenant of the league of nations will be taken up today in the Senate for final disposition. The Senator is of the opinion that this matter must be disposed of one way or the other and that further discussion will not assist in reaching a decision. There will have to be a showdown on the treaty as it stands with reservations. Democratic Senators can join with today. The Democrats can join with the Republicans and put it across or they can remain recalcitrant to the reservations which Mr. Wilson objects to. Anyhow, there is going to be a show of hands and a final disposition of the matter. The country is tired of the whole thing.

Despite the efforts of the Attorney General the h. c. of l. appears to be going up at the rate of about 2 per cent per month. Mr. Palmer appears to think Congress is at fault, but he will not find this view accepted by the people. He has been proclaiming what he will do to alleged inflated prices of foodstuffs and to profiteers and the people are willing to give him plenty of room for his activities.

Presidential booms are now being placed on display although some of them are likely to frost bitten if the owners are not careful.

Mexican War Losses.

The number of men engaged in the Mexican war on the American side consisted of 42,545 regulars and 73,776 volunteers. The losses of regulars were: Killed, 536; wounded, 2,102; died of wounds, 408. Volunteers killed, 512; wounded, 1,918; died of wounds, 100. This does not include deaths by disease.

In early days some armor must have been very beautiful. Homer, describes the famous shield of Achilles, made for him, so the story goes, by Hephaestus, the smith of the mythical inhabitants of Olympus. It was covered with pictures of cities and the people in them, soldiers lurking in ambush, farmers working in their fields, a vineyard, and wild animals. If the shield itself was nearly as beautiful as Homer's description of it, it must have been a wondrous work of art.

Cardinal Manning.

The middle of the nineteenth century saw a great movement in England toward the Church of Rome. Among the many well-known converts was Henry E. Manning, who had been a clergyman in the Church of England for over fifteen years. He entered the Roman priesthood and was ultimately made cardinal archbishop of Westminster. He died January 14, 1892.

To Make Mirror Brilliant.

To clean a mirror in such a way as to bring it to the highest state of brilliancy, very fine whiting, or, better, precipitated chalk, is one of the best-known agents. The mirror should be rubbed gently with methylated spirits with a soft, clean sponge, and then dusted with the whiting or chalk. After a moment it should be wiped with a dry cloth. Another softer cloth, or, more effectively, a silk handkerchief, should be used for the final polishing, which should leave the glass clear and brilliant.

A Chicago Inventor named Brice.

In 1897, was seeking a patent on a process for making gold from a mixture of antimony, iron and sulphur. The patent office would not grant it without proof that the idea had merit, and the then secretary of the treasury was persuaded to direct the mint bureau to try the thing out. There must have been something wrong about the methods of the treasury laboratory, for not a particle of gold or silver was obtained.

JUST DISAPPEAR, THAT'S ALL

English Newspaper Points Out How Easy It Is to Become "Talk of the Town."

Any inhabitant of any English village can make himself the "talk of the town" if he will only go away from it suddenly without leaving any address. There is no person of any consequence too dull, too harmless, or too respectable to become the hero of any imaginary crime or good deed if only he will disappear. At a moment he is a center of romance.

If he came back incognito at the end of the proverbial "nine days," which means of course a much longer time than a week and a half, he would not recognize the highly colored portrait which would be shown him of himself. What did he ever do, he might wonder, to be thought so bad or so good, so strange or so silly? There is no reputation which could stand up unaccountable departure.

Such a vague heading as "Disappearance of a Lady" obviously attracts many readers or we should not see it so often in the public press. Of course, if it can be made a little more definite, and the disappeared person's birthplace, daily work, or social condition can be particularized, the romantic instinct of the multitude is even more certain to be awakened. The notion that someone has not been buried, though every evidence is there to prove that he or she has died, is a recurrent source of squalid romance.—London Times.

TO REVIVE SHOCK SUFFERERS

Application of Artificial Respiration Must Be Kept Up Despite Seeming Discouragement.

Dr. S. Jellinek, analyzing the effects of severe electric shocks received by contact with the electrified wire fences during the World war, wrote in Elektrotechnik und Maschinenbau that an important factor was the state of preparedness of the victim.

Experience, says the Scientific American, has shown that a shock which was likely to prove fatal if received unexpectedly, was harmless when anticipated. Experiments on animals have confirmed this impression and have been instrumental in showing that physiological effects of shocks administered with direct and indirect current are distinctly different.

It is also remarked that a close resemblance to death after shock should not be accepted too readily as proof. Persons apparently dead have not infrequently recovered when artificial respiration was applied. It is best to give the victim the benefit of the doubt.

Blow-Resisting Paper Caps.

Astonishingly strong paper caps, capable of withstanding powerful blows, though extremely light in weight, have been invented by a shipyard employee, and are intended to be worn by workmen whose duties expose them to danger from falling objects. The process by which the novel headgear is produced has not been divulged, says Popular Mechanics, but it is known that chemicals are employed to harden the material, without adding to its weight. Several styles have been made, the lightest weighing about seven ounces, and others only slightly more. In a recent test, a one-pound bolt was dropped on one of them from a height of 40 feet, with the result that a barely perceptible dent was made in the paper. The novel head coverings are proof against water and acids, and are poor conductors of electricity.

Make Your Speech Short.

It's a mark of business ability to say much in few words. It saves time. The man at the other end of the wire doesn't want a sermon from you. He called you for facts, not entertainment. If that were on his mind he would go to the theater and get the real thing. Neither does your correspondent want to read a page to learn that you want six sectional cases, quartered oak, dark finish, size 124, grade 290, shipped by express. He wants your order in the fewest words. It saves him time and it will save yours, too. It's a good thing to aim at the greatest conciseness and exactness of expression. You are apt to make fewer mistakes when you can make few words tell your whole story. You will rise in the business world as you are able to do it.

The Salvation Army acquires new merit, just as we thought all had been said, when we learn that half of a doughnut will provide lifting power to carry a man to the top of the Washington monument (a climb of 555 feet), and six walnuts will do the same while three medium-sized olives will see you comfortably half a mile on your way. A single caramel, says a discouraging article in the American Journal of Medicine, supplies energy for a mile's constitutional. Think of the mistaken picnic luncheons that have been laboriously carried in the past. Reflect that six olives and six caramels are all you need to supply steam for a seven-mile walk, and think how casually these men can be eaten sitting over a supper table.

A Fair Guess.

Teacher—In what battle did Gen. Wolfe, when hearing of victory, cry, "I die happy?"

Johnny—I think it was his last battle.—Boston Transcript.

Odd Standards of Time.

Some of the Mohammedan tribes of India and of the Indo-Malayan peninsula, who are addicted to chewing the betel leaf, use that as an indication of the passing of time. The leaf, prepared with a dab of lime and a sprinkling of spices, takes about 20 minutes to chew to a pulp. And this is taken as a standard of the time by them. But one of the strangest methods of telling time is used sometimes by the Malays, who measure time by the drying of the wet hair on a man's head.

Diamond of the First Water.

A distinguished educator, polemic and literary man called in the office a day or two ago and uttered a sentiment which will awaken a response in thousands of hearts and heads. The air of the man, as he uttered the almost incredible statement, was that of a person who had discovered a diamond of the first water. These were his words: "I have a stenographer who knows when not to talk."—The Christian Advocate.

Look to Future Food Supply.

Owing to the shortage of imported foodstuffs, the production of foodstuffs locally is being encouraged by the Straits Settlements and the Federated Malay states. Even some of the rubber plantations have been compelled to utilize portions of their acreage for food products. This stimulation of agriculture has created interest in mechanical means to increase production, and a shipment of tractors made recently sold readily.

Base Metals and Gold.

The idea of transmuting base metals into gold seems to have had its origin, long before the birth of Christ, in Arabia, where the study of chemistry was remarkably advanced in early days. Lead has been nearly always the metal chosen—as recently, by a professor of the University of Manchester—to be dealt with in this way. Mercury is the next best bet, but silver is highly recommended.

Ruse Didn't Work.

It was the night before Christmas and mother was having a great deal of trouble getting little Helen to go to bed, and finally said, "Santa Claus sent word he is coming tonight, so you must get to bed and to sleep," when mother's angel child answered: "Don't you think we'd better stay up and 'ceive him?"

Error Regarding Indigestion.

Now, it is a popular error to suppose that indigestion is merely an affection of the stomach. There is not a single organ, a single tissue, or a nerve which is not affected to some considerable degree.

When Woman Proposes.

It was not leap year when Queen Victoria offered her heart and hand to Prince Albert, whom etiquette prevented from proposing to the queen of England, but Sir Robert Peel declared that his sovereign was "as full of love as Juliet," and the marriage, which was solemnized in leap year, proved a union of perfect bliss.

Not Fast Color.

Human nature is likely to become somewhat overenthusiastic as it presses on in some worthy undertaking and we imagine some of the reds now awaiting the sailing of the next ark aren't much more than pink.—Ohio State Journal.

Incomplete Diagnosis.

Jack, aged three, went to see his new little cousin. When he came home his mother asked him how the baby was and what it was. He replied: "Oh, mother, they got a nice little dollie, but I can't tell you what it is, because she didn't have any hair yet."

Joys of Life.

One of the joys of life is planning a model home, but the discovery of the cost of building material and the disposition of the contractor to examine your plans and then follow his own takes some of the joy away.

Certificate of Character Needed.

Thelma Clinger says that when applying for accommodations at a strange place she asked if she might entertain her company in the parlor. "Yes," replied the landlady, "if you are sure he ain't a burglar."—Dallas News.

Think This Over.

You don't have to belong to the "laboring classes" to be honest; you don't have to belong to the "capitalistic class" to become wealthy. Most other popular beliefs are about as well founded as those.—Exchange.

Difficult Transaction.

"When a man marries for money," said Miss Cayenne, "you may expect complaints from everybody concerned of having gotten the worst of the bargain."

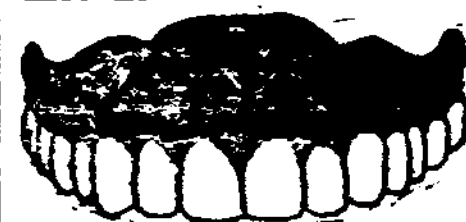

Too Busy to Weep for Old Days.

And when a woman is trying to raise eight or nine children she doesn't waste much time regretting the passing of old-fashioned southern hospitality.—Dallas News.

POTATO WART IS NOW UNDER CONTROL

In the war against potato wart the United States has done in less than two years what other countries had not succeeded in doing in decades. War: has been for a long time a destructive disease of potatoes in Europe, and belief always was that once a garden or field became infected there was no way of eradicating it. An infected area, even when no potatoes were planted in it for a number of years, would show the disease still virulent when again planted in potatoes.

The potato wart disease was discovered last year in gardens in some small mining towns in eastern Pennsylvania. The United States department of agriculture quarantined the infected area and the specialists of the department began experiments in control. They have now announced that a field or garden infected with potato wart can be thoroughly disinfected by the use of steam and formaldehyde. The cost of the work, however, is high, and it will be used only when absolutely necessary in cleaning up the affected area.

The investigators of the department, who have worked in co-operation with the state authorities of Pennsylvania and West Virginia have also discovered varieties of potatoes that are immune to the wart disease and steps are being taken to assist gardeners in the infected regions to purchase varieties of seed known to be immune. The department specialists now believe that further losses from the disease can be practically eliminated.

WILL ERECT ITS OWN CANDY PLANT

The Monongahela Valley Supply company, a Monessen corporation, doing business at 250 Donner avenue is preparing to erect a candy manufacturing plant in that town. The new structure will be of brick and supplied with all modern appliances for the manufacture of candies and confections.

This company is a new venture promoted by Monessen business men, and is said to be very successful in this new field of commercial enterprise. They own the property they occupy, and the manufacturing plant will be erected in the rear of the present house. Since prohibition went into effect it is said the demand for candy has been so great that it is almost impossible to supply dealers. This is the reason the company has determined to erect its own manufacturing plant.

Great American.
On the 30th of January, in 1784, Robert Morris, the first great American financier, was born in England. He came to America at an early age and became an ardent patriot. During the war of the Revolution he devoted all his talents to the American cause.

Strictly Business.
The candy store woman always gave Lucy an extra piece of candy, saying, "I give you an extra piece for good luck." Lucy walked into the candy store and said, "I can't buy today, but you can give me the extra piece for good luck that you always give me when I buy."

PANTHERS TOO FAST FOR THEIR OPPONENTS

Tuesday night last in the local gymnasium the Panther basketball team won a very fast game from the Methodist Thirds. In the first quarter neither side scored, but at the end of the first half the score was 3-0 in favor of the Panthers. At the end of the third quarter the score was 5-1, with the Panthers leading, while in the last quarter the Methodists succeeded in getting a foul goal and the Panthers caging a field and a foul goal. The score was 8-2 in favor of the Panthers. Lineup:

HE TOLD WORKERS OF FARMERS' STAND

"Farmers will never go on strike" was a statement which brought delegates to the National Farmer-Labor Cooperative Congress to their feet in Chicago. It was George Hampton of Washington, managing director of the Farmers' National Council, talking, and his talk had much to do with the steps taken toward uniform action by all cooperative agencies in the U. S.

WEATHER AFFECTS SUPPLY OF CARS

The stormy weather of last Saturday was reflected in the supply of cars to the coal mines of the Pittsburgh district in a manner which at some points reduced the supply to almost nothing. The day was one of the worst of many which of late have tried the patience of both coal miners and operators.

In January the supply of cars in the Pittsburgh district was only 54 per cent of normal. February will show an even worse condition, and the days of the latter part of last week were the worst of the month. For the week ending last Saturday the supply of cars on the Monongahela Division, P. R. R., was 31 per cent and on the P. & L. E. 59 per cent. The weather during the month did not hinder any movement of coal by water.

"THE EYES OF YOUTH" AT THE COYLE THEATRE

A story that deals with the problems of knowing the right thing to do—whether to sacrifice one's happiness for others or choose the career that means the soul's higher development. This problem confronts Gina Ashling. Her beautiful voice offers her a career in Paris. A rich, though much older man wants her for his wife, and a young brother and sister, (motherless) make remaining at home seem her duty. Which shall she choose—Ambition—Wealth or Duty? And at all time there is Peter—who lives her and dreams of the future they shall build together. And then from far-off India comes a Yogi, a wonderer in a strange land, who hears her plea for guidance and in a crystal ball she sees into the future—sees what will come to pass if she follows each of the paths that lie open to her. Will be shown Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Coyle.

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarinski.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with displacement and irregularities and I did not know what to do. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sanative Wash so I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I could not do before, as I could hardly stand up and I have three healthy children. You can see this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."

Mrs. A. KWARINSKI, 3627 W. Oakdale Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration, and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the Change of Life.

Women who suffer are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

DIED WITH LOVED BROTHER

Pretty Eastern Legend Concerning the Affection and Loyalty Displayed by Burmese Queen.

A legend concerning Mount Popa, dealing with the time when the Burmese queen, who was a blacksmith of prodigious strength named Mahagiri. He possessed a sister of great beauty who was commanded by the king of Tagaung to be brought before him shortly afterward being chosen as the principal queen. The king's infatuation brought jealousy among the lesser queens, and they instituted a plot to destroy her.

As a means of destroying the girl's influence over the king, her brother was charged with being a traitor, and the king, in his terror, ordered the blacksmith to be brought to justice and burned. The unhappy sister used all her allurements to save her brother, but failed, finally asking that she might be present at the burning. During the ceremony, before a land could be outstretched to save her, she jumped into the fire, and was burned with her brother.

A few days after the burning the spirits of the two victims were reported in the form of two "nats." In recognition of this, King Kyau-yu-tu later issued an edict that all his subjects should honor the spirits by suspending a coconut shell in their houses, this custom still being observed by every Burman in the country.

WESTERN SPIRIT IN CHINA

Head of University in the Great Yelow Territory Has Proof of Spread of Occidental Ideas.

"He had been pretty well all over the world," said the professor, "and when I asked him what country had impressed him most, he said at once, China. And when I asked him what in China had impressed him most, he said at once, the West China Union university. The professor's remarks were made to the Daily News, London, and he followed them up with a delightful story of the way in which Chinese emineces showed their appreciation of this blossom of Western enterprise, the university of which the professor happens to be the president. Some dozen years ago he was fleeing for his life 1,500 miles down the Yangtze to save his head. He was a "foreign devil," and no university had been started. Seven or eight years later, the military governor of Szechuan sent him a beautifully inscribed statement of his opinion of the university, and a gift of $3,000. The professor was on his way home via Peking. In the Chinese capital he had an interview with the president of the Chinese republic, then Yuan Shih-kai, who also gave him a declaration of approval and $4,000 as a personal gift to the university.

The First Congress.

The first congress was supposed to meet on March 4, 1789, and it is a curious fact that there was not a quorum of either house present for a month thereafter. Only eight senators were present on March 4, and they adjourned from day to day until April 3, when a quorum was present. Only 13 members of the house assembled on March 4, and a quorum was not present until April 1. The Constitution of the United States took effect in the following states: Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maryland, South Carolina, New Hampshire, Virginia and New York, on March 4, 1789.

Dream That Means Death.

A peculiar dream is that which has visited a certain Irish family for generations, invariably before a death or some big change. They call it their kissing lady dream. The person who experiences it dreams that they are sitting in a very old-fashioned room before a blazing wood fire, when suddenly the door behind them opens and a beautiful girl in green, tight-fitting garments enters, and, stealing softly behind them, draws their head gently back and kisses them full on the lips. As she does so there is always the clanging of steel on a stone staircase, the hurried tramp of armed men, and they awake trembling.

Mnemonic for Grams.

Scientific papers are getting to use the metric system of weights and measures more and more, and it has become almost necessary for every one to be able to convert such terms as grams into ounces at once. It is not however, easy to remember that there are 28.35 grams in an ounce. However, if one remembers the sentence, "it converts one ounce," the figures will instantly recur to the mind. For the number of letters in each word gives 2-8-3-5.

Mnemonics for other terms of the metric system are needed.

Statue of the Greek Slave.

This famous statue was the work of Hiram Powers (1805-1873), the American sculptor, completed in 1843. Five replicas are said to have been made by the artist, the first of which was sold to Captain Grant and taken to England, and is now in the gallery of the duke of Cleveland. The second copy is now in the Corcoran Art gallery at Washington; the third is in possession of the earl of Dudley; the fourth was purchased by A. T. Stewart, the New York merchant, and the fifth became the property of Hon. R. W. Stoughton.

FIRST PARLIAMENT IN 1265

From That Time Dates the Entry of the Commons into Power in the State.

The 20th of January, 1265, was a great day not only for the English-speaking people but the world; it was the time appointed for the meeting of the first parliament in England.

Matthew of Paris in his chronicles first uses the word in reference to a council of the barons in 1246, but it was in the year 1265, during a civil war which very much resembled that of the seventeenth century, being for law against an arbitrary power as expressed by royalty, that the first parliament, properly so-called, was assembled. It was at this time that Simon de Montfort held King Henry in his power.

This parliament was summoned in such a manner that there should be two knights for each county, and two citizens for every borough; the first clear acknowledgment of the commons element in the state. The meeting was held in that magnificent hall at Westminster and the representatives of the commons sat in the same place with their noble associates, probably at the bottom of the hall, little disposed to assert a controlling voice not joining in any vote. But there they were and, notwithstanding the fact that de Montfort was shortly overpowered and he and nearly all of his associates slaughtered, the commons were never again left out. It was an admitted power entitled to be consulted in all great national movements and to have a directing voice in the matter of taxation.

ALL DUE TO MALNUTRITION

Various Diseases of Infancy and Childhood That Can Be Traced to Undernourishment.

Practically all varieties of malnutrition occurring during infancy and early childhood tend to terminate in rickets, a disease characterized by softening of the bones and consequent deformity. The essential feature of rickets, says Dr. E. Pritchard in the British Medical Journal, is the want of calcification or mineralization of developing bone, and this, in its turn, is due to the existence of requirements for calcium, which for the time being are more urgent than those of developing bone. These urgent requirements are the necessity for neutralizing acid bodies in the blood; in other words, to neutralize or compensate an existing acidosis. Doctor Pritchard argues that all chronic conditions of malnutrition, of whatever kind or from whatever cause arising, finally terminate in an acidosis—all of which means that children who do not get proper nourishment are in a fair way to become deformed.

What Hath He Done?

A man passes for what he is worth. Very idle is all curiosity concerning other people's estimate of us, and idle is all fear of remaining unknown. "What hath he done?" is the divine question which searches men and transpires every false reputation. A top may sit in any chair in the world nor be distinguished for his hour from Homer and Washington; but there can never be any doubt concerning the respective ability of human beings when we seek the truth. Pretension may sit still, but cannot act. Pretension never wrote an liad, nor drove back Xerxes, nor christened the world, nor abolished slavery. Never a sincere word was uttered lost. Never a magnanimity fell to the ground. Always the hearts of men greet and accept it unexpectedly. A man passes for what he is worth.—Emerson.

Highland Superstitions.

Did you know that if you lived in Scotland all salt cellars in the house must be full on New Year's day, else the household will suffer want during the year?

That is not the only superstition peculiar to Scotland. The country is full of them. For instance, the Highland nurses believe that if an infant's feet are put in snow he will never have colds during his life. A regular practice among the farmers used to be the placing of honeysuckle branches in their cow houses on May 2 to keep their cattle from being witched.

A bad storm is prophesied when a cat frolics about a room. If the cat washes its face with its paws before the fire, the coming day will be rainy.

Romance Beloved by All.

Romance kills the villain in the fifth act and produces the betrothal as the curtain falls. By it Homer got his daily bread in the Greek cities, and by it the movie houses earn their profits. Each of us has been soldier, lover, explorer and "all the thousand things that children are." For the same reason that romance commands the greatest audiences, dime novels and best sellers pour out from the presses. No man can elbow Clark Russell into oblivion except some more thrilling writer of sea tales. And every age must have its Sherlock Holmes. For the human mind must spend many months on the seven seas and many more in intimate relations with Scotland Yard.

No More Corn Suffering

"Gets-It" Never Leaves a Corn On Any Foot For Very Long.

The hurting "pep" goes right out of that corn the moment a few drops of "Gets-It" lands thereon. It is through, and "for keeps."

Corns and "Gets-It" Can't Live Together.

You'll have no more pain but will notice the corn getting loose and wobbly. In a day or so, you lift it right off without any feeling. That's the end of the corn and of your troubles. Millions have proved "Gets-It" to be the one and only unfailing, common sense corn remover. Why not you?

"Gets-It" costs but a trifle at any drug store and carries a money-back guarantee. Mfd. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Charleroi and recommended the world's best corn remedy by Frank J. John and Piper's Pharmacy, Carrolls Drug Store.

Early Paper Making.

Papyrus, from which the word paper is derived, is not paper at all, and the beginnings of the paper industry are not traced back to it, but to the genuine paper made by the Chinese, from whom it spread to other races and then to Europe in the twelfth century. About the year 1150 a paper mill was started at Fabriano, Italy, which became the principal center for paper making, continuing to the present day. From Italy the art spread to France and Germany and somewhat later to England.

Bead Superstition.

Alum beads esteemed to be an efficacious charm against the evil eye, were largely worn by children and in a town of Suffolk, England, there is said to have dwelt a witch who possessed a pair of ebony beads stated to have come from the Holy Land and to have been sanctioned at Rome. To her there repaired many a mother when her child was sick, in the hope that through the prayers of the ebony beads would be conjured away the evil spirit.

Sun's Immensity.

The sun, which is by no means a large star, as stars go, could easily contain within its boundaries the entire earth and moon and the distance between them says the Scientific American. In fact three systems like that consisting of earth and moon could be strung out in a row through the center of the sun, without coming within 50,000 miles of his surface on either side.

May Shed Its Arm at Will.

A starfish may jerk off each of its five arms seized in succession; it may cast off an injured or parasitized arm; in rare cases there is multiplication by division. Sea cucumbers discharge their viscera in the spasms of capture and may thus escape from an astonished foe. The replacement of the food canal is sometimes accomplished in ten days, though it may take as many weeks.

The superstition which clings to the meaning of beads is of ancient origin. The custom of wearing an amber necklace was immensely common, and is not yet extinct among old women in England. The amber, when heated sends forth an agreeable perfume. In olden times it was the present made by a mother to her daughter on her wedding eve.

Pity the Egotist

The egotist does not take kindly to criticism, yet because of his exalted opinion of himself is overready to criticize. He is blind to his own mistakes and shortcomings, stubbornly persisting in chosen courses of conduct even after they have cost him dear and their folly has been pointed out to him.

PATRON SAINT OF HATTERS

Why St. Clement Has Long Been Accorded Recognition by Makers of Head Coverings.

St. Clement is known as the patron saint of hatters, because of his discovery for the making of a compact fabric out of wool without pressure or weaving. The story goes that this devout priest, while on a journey, became foot-sore and tired, and, removing his sandals, sought rest by the roadside.

St. Clement was soon disturbed by the bleating of lambs. Looking up, he beheld a fox that had just seized one of the helpless young sheep. He cleared a hedge just in time to destroy the fox and rescue the lamb, in the process of which act he observed loose wool, which he gathered and examined.

The priest was struck by the sudden inspiration that here was relief for his lacerated feet. Binding the yielding wool on his wounds, he was able to continue his journey. On reaching his destination St. Clement removed the sandals from his feet, discovering instead of the fine soft wool a piece of unfinished cloth, seemingly so firm and thick that he couldn't pull it apart. He called the matted material "felt."

This accidental knowledge of the priest caused the basic principle that underlies the men's hat industry. November 23 has been named St. Clement's day and is a red-letter day for the hat manufacturers of many countries.

WAS THE FIRST CINDERELLA

Egyptian Maiden Said to Have Been the Original of the Old and Popular Story.

About 700 years B. C., there is said to have lived a maiden, who, though not called "Cinderella," was undoubtedly the person represented in the popular fairy tale, says the Montreal Herald. It was during the reigns of one of the twelve Egyptian kings that this beautiful eastern girl, Rhodope by name, came under the notice of the then known world. Rhodope had remarkably small feet. One day, while bathing in a river near her home, an eagle is said to have swooped down and, playing the part of the fairy god-mother, snapped up one of her sandals which was on the bank. Carrying the little shoe off in his beak the bird is reported to have dropped it immediately in front of the king, and, naturally, the little sandal soon attracted royal attention. Struck by its size so small, and the daintiness, too, the king vowed he would find out the charming possessor. Messengers were dispatched and the country was scoured for the foot that the shoe would fit. At length Rhodope was discovered and the shoe placed on her tiny foot. After a triumphal conveyance to the king's palace she was made queen to her royal lover, "King Psammetichus of Memphis."

Speech Should Be Worth While.

And when you have something to say it's worth saying well. It's not just that you say words. You must say them so they attract and convince. We all use pretty much the same words but they sound so differently from the mouths of different people. There are books galore that are musty with unuse because what they say is poorly said. If the thought had been matured into small compass and told in telling diction they should be popular works. And it's the same with speech. Some men have good ideas, but they take so long to tell them that people get tired. Sometimes they even get weary before the man begins to speak. The world wants what you know, but it isn't willing to waste time listening to mere words.

"Straight" Talk Best.

When your words count you don't need to use so many of them. It's a pleasure for some people to talk. Other men talk under protest and become the best speakers because they seek the shortest way to adequate expression. These men always get a hearing because people know they will get the facts without orations. And this is as it should be. Every man should be able to express himself. He can learn if he is willing to make the effort. It may scare him half to death at first, but he will soon find pleasure in seeing his ideas take action in others. Whether you are a ready talker or not you will profit much by making your talk count.

Prismatic Colors.

It is commonly said that there are seven primary colors in the rainbow, namely, red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. But these colors mix, and the so-called Fraunhofer lines name ten, as red, red-orange, orange-yellow, yellow, green-yellow, and yellow-green, blue-green, sky-blue, blue and blue-violet and violet. The Indians did not have names for all the subdivisions of color. Their name for blue is ochake; for green, okchamali; red is called humma, and yellow, lakna. These are names in the Choctaw tongue.

A Great Man.

"Yep," said the Old Timer, "Senator Fluddub gets by on his pomposity."

"Puh?"
"I got so much of it that people just naturally feel compelled to hurrah at his platitudes and guffaw over his stale jokes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HIS PERSONALITY

was so great and affection for him so marked, that his birthday was publicly celebrated for years before his death.

So it is written of Washington.

Few men, and they supremely great may receive this high honor, a birthday nationally observed.

We cannot all be famous, but we may all be honored. The nearer we approach the character, the unselfish spirit that made Washington's personality what it was, the wider grows our circle of friends.

"THE BIG STORE"

517-519-521 Fallowfield Avenue :: Charleroi, Pa.

WORLD'S LARGEST UNCUT GEM

"Black Opal," Found in Nevada in 1917, Was a Quarter the Size of a Brick.

What is believed to be the largest uncut gem in the world has come to light in a recently opened mining district in Nevada, where it was discovered in the spring of 1917. The stone is a "black opal," so-called because dark tones predominate in it. It shows mostly dark peacock blues and emerald greens, with a considerable amount of red, and several less prominent shades.

In size this great gem approaches a quarter of an ordinary brick, being three and fifteen-sixteenths inches in length, three and one-eighth in width, and two and one-eighth thick at the bulkiest point. Its weight is eighteen and six-tenths avoirdupois ounces, which expressed in gem diction is 8,186 grains, or 2,566.56 carats. More than a pound of opal is surely some stone! And it is all solid, uncracked, flawless gem material, free from matrix or adhering rock except for a paper thin skin encrusting the two major surfaces. Little specks broken from this skin here and there reveal the brilliant play of colors within, while the exposed ends and sides exhibit the full refracting radiance of the mass.

This stone is about half again as large as the largest of the noted gems of the world. The Cullinan diamond was roughly the size and shape of a small fist, and, if it had been an opal, would have weighed but 1,729 carats. It is compared with the new opal on this basis since the specific gravity of the diamond is 75 per cent greater than that of the opal.—Archie Rice in the Scientific American.

Lucky Months.

According to Dr. Marcello Boldini, one of Italy's greatest scientists, men born between January 1 and March 31 are stronger, taller and superior in intelligence to those whose birthdays fall in other months. This view is borne out by the researches of another Italian scientist, Desio Rovere.

For One Lone Blossom.

If you are in need of decorations and find but one lone, short-stemmed rose on your bush, do not despair. Pick the flower with as long a stem as possible. Then either tie or wire the short-stemmed blossom to a longer stem of another flower; in this way there is no waste on account of lack of stem. If you have no other flowers whose stems you can use, try a bit of the branch of the plant, or, in lieu of better, avail yourself of the hollow stem of an artificial rose.

Garnet Is January Stone.

The garnet is the birthstone for January. Consequently it is the luck stone for all born in that month. According to old authorities "the garnet exercises a calming influence and takes away anger and discord. It is likewise a sovereign remedy for hemorrhages and protects the traveler from all dangers when traveling. When the figure of a lion is engraved upon a garnet, it will protect and preserve the health of the wearer and cure him of all diseases."

Find Value of Various Woods.

Investigations by the agricultural department show that one standard cord of well-seasoned hickory, oak, beech, birch, hard maple, ash, elm, locust or cherry wood is approximately equal to one ton of anthracite coal. A cord and a half of soft maple or two cords of cedar, poplar or bass wood are required to give the same amount of heat. One cord of well-seasoned mixed wood equals at least one ton of average grade bituminous coal.

Compensation in Age.

It is true that a poet wrote a famous hymn, "I Would Not Live Always," yet people are interested in living as long as they can, as that is one of the great laws of nature. Even advanced age, bringing dim sight, loss of hearing and general decline, is not without its compensations, and Longfellow proved that "age is opportunity no less than youth."

SATISFIED WITH DOG'S MEAL

Westerner in New York Proved He Knew a Good Thing When He Saw It.

A man and wife moved to New York from the West—a sane, conservative American man and wife, used to money and knowing the worth of it—and brought the family dog along, paying $5 extra fare for the dog, by the way, on the train. They went to a large and gorgeous hotel and in the due course of time the dog needed sustenance.

"Ring for a waiter," said the husband, "and we'll get the dog some scraps."

The floor waiter came and when asked to bring some food for the dog explained with some hauteur that he was the floor waiter and not the dog waiter, but would inform the dog waiter of the desires of the dog. The dog waiter arrived in course of time and the predicament of the dog was explained to him. The dog waiter wrote down the order carefully and departed. Presently he returned bearing a silver tray on which were displayed daintily various articles of food—some vegetables, some meat and a cracker or two.

"What's that?" asked the husband, examining the contents of the tray with interest.

"The service for the dog, sir," the waiter replied.

"How much is it?"

"One dollar, sir."

The husband took the tray.

"Get the dog a bone," he said. "I'll eat this. It's the best-looking meal I have seen in the place, and the cheapest."—Samuel G. Blythe, in Saturday Evening Post.

KNIFE ENDED ALL SQUAWKING

Pets of Clemenceau No Longer Created Disturbance, After Undergoing a Slight Operation.

M. Clemenceau's love of pets, of which much has appeared in the press since his recent visit to London, once involved him in trouble with his neighbors. Twelve years ago, during his first term as premier, he had a number of peacocks and storks installed in the gardens attached to the ministry of the interior. There are no trees in these gardens, only lawn and flower beds, which in M. Clemenceau's opinion lack animation—hence the peacocks. But other people living in the Place Beauvau complained that these birds were too animated, their cries being so persistent as to render sleep impossible.

Things reached such a pass that the prefect of police was asked to indict his official superior for disturbing the peace of his neighbors, who were all the more indignant because M. Clemenceau went home every night to sleep at his flat in the Rue Franklin, far out of the range of the peacocks' cries. However a scandal was averted by the premier allowing a slight operation to be performed on the vocal chords of his pets, which, without otherwise injuring them, rendered them incapable of squawking.

And Still Eggs Are High!

The hens need a walking delegate. Grinding the beaks of the poor unprotected fowls seems to be the modern poultryer's long suit. Witness the modern working day of an unhappy hen on an up-to-date chicken farm, where as many as 18,000 eggs are hatched at one time.

Electric light has done it. The lights burn steadily until 10 p. m. At 4 a. m. they are turned on gradually until their full glare wakes the hens. The poultry then sit up and rub their eyes and think, "How short the nights are getting! Yet it's certainly daylight. Well—just one darned day after another!" Nights are short. The touching innocence of the hen victimizes it to the extent of getting only six hours' sleep a night. Eight-hour day? Why, the chicken works as long as the farmer!—The Nation's Business.

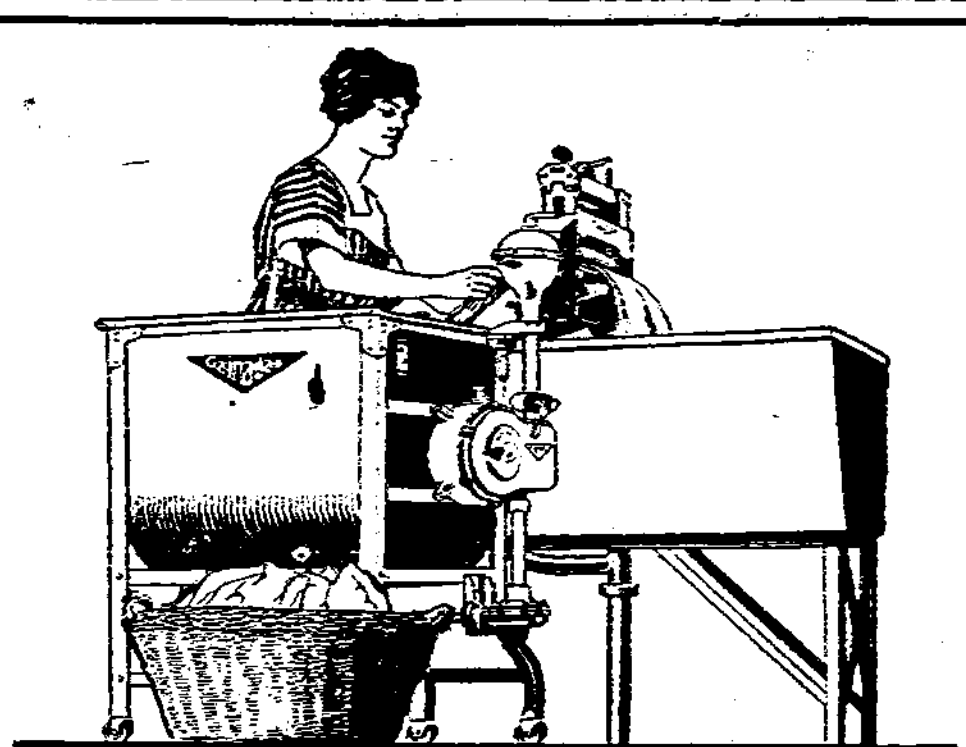

While motoring with four girls my clutch got out of order and it was necessary for the girls to get out and push in order to get the car in motion. On the way back it was arranged that when we got to the home of the girl where they were all staying they would jump off while the car was moving slowly, thus to prevent my stopping and being stalled again. Imagine my horror when they all jumped off backwards and falling over in a bunch rolled into the ditch. I surely had quite a time explaining my seemingly ungentlemanly act to the girls' parents, who had witnessed the incident from the porch.—Exchange.

Brazil Seeks Experts.

According to advice from Commercial Attaché J. E. Phillips, at Rio de Janeiro, the government of the state of Minas Geraes, Brazil, has sent to the United States to contract for the services of one expert in the cultivation and production of cotton; two experts in fruit culture, including vineyards; three grain experts, one expert in tobacco culture, two live stock experts, including one veterinarian, and one dairy expert. These men will be employed as traveling teachers in the interior districts of the state of Minas Geraes.

Progress in Burma.

There are two schools for the blind in Burma, one at Rangoon and one in Moulmein. The former, with fifteen pupils, of whom seven are girls, now enjoys the services of a blind Oxford graduate.

"Let's top it off with a good smoke"

—Chesterfield

NOTHING touches the spot like a good smoke—and nothing can touch Chesterfields for genuinely "satisfying" body and flavor.

In Chesterfields the finest of silky, aromatic Turkish and of rich, mellow Domestic tobaccos are blended to bring out a new and fuller flavor.

Now you know why Chesterfields "satisfy!"—and because this blend is exclusive and cannot be copied, only Chesterfields can "satisfy"

Each package is wrapped in moisture-proof, glassine paper* that keeps all of the original flavor intact.

*About that moisture-proof wrapper, it keeps Chesterfields from ever becoming too moist or too dry.

TWO CENTS

GOES BACK TO THE OLD GAME AFTER BEING ONCE ARRESTED

Proprietor of Pool Room Is Heavily Fined For Gambling

VISITORS WERE ALSO ASSESSED

Monessen police are determined to stop gambling in the pool rooms in that town, if arresting and fining the proprietors of offending rooms will accomplish the purpose.

Last night about 10:30 o'clock the police made a raid on a pool room kept by Ben Daumit, at the corner of Sixth street and Schoonmaker avenue, where they arrested the proprietor and a number of visitors for playing the pea pool game and betting on the high number. They were all taken to the police station and left forfeits for their appearance this morning.

About a half hour later police got on to the fact that the offenders had gone right back to the pool room and began the same old game, and the house was pulled again, Daumit and visitors again being taken to the police station for additional forfeits.

This morning they appeared before Burgess Stewart, who imposed fine and costs on Daumit to the amount of $55, while the visitors were released on the payment of amounts from $5 to $10, together with the costs. The police over there appear to be determined to break up all forms of gambling in the big borough, punch boards and slot machines having already been eliminated.

INCREASE GIVEN TO ALL EMPLOYEES

All of the employees of the American Steel and Wire company at Donora received the 10 per cent increase promised some time ago by the United States Steel Corporation, and effective on the first day of February. When the announcement was made that ten per cent increase would be given to labor, there was some question as to just what departments this would apply. All doubts were set at rest on Wednesday when the increase was made effective with all of the employees alike, and was added to their usual semi-monthly pay.

CONCERT PROMISES FINE PROGRAM

A concert of more than usual merit has been announced by the Metropolitan Baptist church to be given in High school auditorium, Tuesday evening, March 2nd. The talent secured for this concert is exceptionally good, and includes Mrs. D. Norman Tillman, concert pianist of Oberlin Conservatory; Miss Ethel Harper, lyric soprano, and D. Norman Tillman, lyric tenor. Tickets are now on sale, or may be obtained at the door or the evening of the concert.

HOWARD DELIVERS INTERESTING ADDRESS

Hon. Clinton N. Howard, of Rochester, N. Y., known as the "Little Giant" of reform, delivered his famous lecture, "A Joy Ride to the Grave of John Barleycorn," to a capacity audience at the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church last evening. Mr. Howard spoke for two hours and twenty minutes, his address being intensely interesting, the speaker discussing questions of today from a modern standpoint. The speaker took his audience on the "joy ride" with him, and from many manifestations of approval they evidently enjoyed the "outing". During the evening a collection was taken for the support of the prohibition movement which netted $325.

WILL ATTEMPT TO SOLVE THE HOUSING PROBLEM

Uniontown is very much exercised over the problem now confronting that city in providing housing accommodations for the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad who will be located in that town after Monday next. A conference between railroad representatives and a committee of the leading citizens of the town will be held soon, in order to find a solution of the situation, which necessitates the finding of sufficient housing for at least 200 people. In Harrisburg a similar situation is being met temporarily by a decision to use Pullman cars in which to accommodate railroad employees assigned to that city, but who have no place to live.

NEWLY ORGANIZED CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The T. W. Club was entertained at the home of Misses Ruth and Laura Cook on Washington avenue. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Grace Chester Fiedler; secretary, Miss Margaret McDermott; treasurer, Miss Mary Welsh. Miss Elizabeth Hall read and gave a discussion of "Enoch Arden", Tennyson. During the social hour, dainty refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held March 16, at the home of Miss Irene Chester.

Preparing to Move Railroad Offices to Uniontown Center

A. W. McClellan, the newly appointed superintendent of the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad was in Uniontown on Wednesday, preparatory to establishing headquarters in that city. He was in consultation with railroad officials and a number of leading citizens of Uniontown with reference to office and residence accommodations, and every help possible is promised. It is anticipated that the taking of the offices to Uniontown will mean the removal of at least a hundred and possibly one hundred and fifty people who will serve in official or clerical positions. The problem now confronting Mr. McClellan and the Uniontown officials is to find suitable rooms for the offices and houses for the employees who will have to move to that new railroad center.

TEACHERS' STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED

Efforts are being made in Monongahela to settle the school trouble, which has almost closed the high school during the present week. A meeting of the school board was held last night, at which time it is said the striking teachers agreed to go back to their places at the same salary they had been receiving. The board while willing to take them back insisted that all of them must sign new contracts. This the teachers did, but another feature has entered into the controversy, and unless settled may block the progress already made. The teachers, by signing new contracts, realized this morning that they were coming back as new teachers, and that their salaries would not begin until Monday next. Now they are inquiring whether the board is going to pay them for the present week, which it is said the school directors are not inclined to do. Whether this phase of the situation will defer a peaceful settlement of the trouble is yet a matter of conjecture.

MONONGAHELA WINS OVER DUQUESNE

The Monongahela High basketball team defeated the Duquesne team on the floor of the former team on Tuesday night, by a score of 33 to 22. McVicker, who has been ill for the past two months, appeared to have regained his former health and is now playing at top speed. Monongahela leads Section IV with a total of 7 games won and two lost; Donora is second with 5 games won and 3 lost. This evening Donora plays Munhall, and will close the season with Monongahela next Tuesday evening. If Donora should win both games it will tie with Monongahela for the lead; if it loses one game, it is out of the running.

WILL TRY TO SOLVE HOUSING PROBLEM

As a preliminary to solving the housing condition in Donora, the commercial organization of that borough, the Donora Community Service, in preference to the one outlined by its executive committee, organized a housing corporation with a capital stock of $100,000 and a board of directors elected.

The directors decided to follow the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., plan of finance in preference to the one outlined by Dr. William H. Walker of Pittsburgh. As soon as all of the stock in the corporation is subscribed it is planned to commence the erection of 20 houses. When these are completed the American Steel and Wire company will take them over for their employees and will assist the men in paying for them. In this way it is proposed to erect shortly in Donora under the housing corporation from 100 to 150 new houses.

The American Steel and Wire company in addition plans the immediate erection of 85 new houses for its employees. The coming summer promises to be a busy one in the building trades in Donora.

REHEARSALS FOR "THE WISHING RING" UNDER WAY

The dainty musical comedy, "The Wishing Ring," is going to be one of the most interesting plays of the season, given by the young people of Charleroi. "The Wishing Ring" is a play that children and grown-ups equally enjoy. It has a well defined plot and portrays a clever story. Rehearsals began the first of the week and are proving most enjoyable to all concerned. The various groups are being trained by Miss Carr, who has proven herself an efficient director and secures marvelous results in a short time. The cast is composed of prominent young people of the town and will be announced soon.

CONTROLLER AGAIN OVERRULED BY A DECISION OF THE COURT

JEANNETTE TEACHERS ARE GIVEN A RAISE

A flat increase of $20 a month has been granted Jeannette's 48 school teachers by action of the school board on Wednesday evening. The increase is to be retroactive to January 1st. In Harrisburg the Women's clubs of that city have adapted resolutions favoring the plan of the Harrisburg teachers for an increase in salaries. The clubs will name a committee, to co-operate with the teachers in getting the school board of Harrisburg to act favorably on the subject.

Poor Directors Win Contention for Payment of a Warrant

DUTIES ARE ONLY MINISTERIAL

In an opinion handed down by Judge James I. Brownson on Thursday in the case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ex rel R. C. Buchanan, George E. Adams and W. W. Hawkins, directors of the poor of Washington county, against H. J. Underwood, county controller, the court grants of writ of peremptory mandamus asked for by the directors of the poor, commanding the county controller to countersign the warrant on the county treasurer for $197.34, with interest from December 1, 1918, in favor of R. C. Buchanan. The court refused to sustain the demurrer filed by the controller and directed that judgment be entered in favor of the plaintiff.

This decision disposes of a dispute of long standing between the poor board and the county controller. The amount named is claimed by R. C. Buchanan, a member of the board of poor directors, as expenses in taking a lunatic from this county to his relatives in the state of Washington. Part of the expense was borne by the relatives, but the balance was paid personally by Mr. Buchanan, under authority from the other members of the board. He presented his bill for these expenses to the county commissioners, and it was ordered paid, but the controller refused to countersign the warrant on the grounds that the lunatic was not a resident of Washington county.

Mr. Buchanan brought suit and the commissioners admitted that the money was due him. Judgment was entered for the amount on the last of December, 1918, but the controller still refused to countersign the warrant. On April 25, 1919, the directors of the poor were granted a petition for an alternative writ of mandamus on the controller to compel him to countersign the warrant. The controller filed a motion to quash this proceeding, but it was refused. He then filed a demurrer to the return of this action, but this was overruled. Judge Brownson in disposing of this case cites the decision of Judge McClellan in a number of other cases in which the controller refused to countersign warrants for the payment of bills and salaries, which had been allowed by the county commissioners, in each case of which the court stated that the duties of the county controller are simply ministerial.
